INSTRUCTIONS

This certificate is not valid unless it contains the purchaser's District of Columbia Sales and Use Tax Registration Number. It must be signed by the owner or authorized officer and must be dated.

If the issuer of the certificate buys from the seller items which do not qualify for tax exemption he should advise the seller to charge the appropriate tax on such items. Otherwise, the purchaser is required to report use tax directly to the Department of Finance and Revenue.

The seller must retain all Certificates of Resale on file to substantiate exemptions in the event of an audit of his D.C. Sales and Use Tax returns.

Purchasers who are located outside the District of Columbia and who make no retail sales in the District may, upon application, be issued a D.C. Certificate of Registration in order that they may furnish a Certificate of Resale for items intended for resale outside of the District.
