Important Information from the Landlord and Tenant Board

The termination date

The termination date the landlord sets out in this notice must be at least 60 days after the landlord gives you this notice.

Also, the termination date must be the last day of the rental period. For example, if you pay rent on the first of each month, the termination date must be the last day of a month.

Finally, if the tenancy is for a fixed term the termination date cannot be earlier than the last day of the fixed term. For example, if you signed a one-year lease, the termination date cannot be earlier than the last day of the one-year period set out in the lease.

A tenant can give 10 days' notice to end the tenancy

You can terminate the tenancy sooner than the date set out in this notice as long as you give the landlord at least 10 days' notice that you intend to move out of the rental unit. You must use the Landlord and Tenant Board's Form N9 Tenant's Notice to End the Tenancy to give your written notice to the landlord.

What if you disagree with the notice?

You do not have to move out if you disagree with what the landlord has put in this notice. However, the landlord can apply to the Board to evict you. The Board will schedule a hearing where you can explain why you disagree.

What if you move out?

If you move out of the rental unit by the termination date, your tenancy ends on that date.

What if the landlord applies to the Board?

The landlord can apply to the Board to evict you immediately after giving you this notice. If the landlord applies to the Board to evict you, the Board will schedule a hearing and send you a copy of the application and the Notice of Hearing. The Notice of Hearing sets out the date, time and location of the hearing. At the hearing, the landlord will have to prove the claims they made in this Notice to End your Tenancy and in the application and you can respond to the claims your landlord makes. If the Board issues an order ending your tenancy and evicting you, the order will not require you to move out any earlier than the termination date included in this notice.
