Section 3 Your job skills and keywords

When a job vacancy arises, the computer will search for candidates using the Job Skill Codes and the Keywords that you choose for this section. It is essential that you complete this section fully and choose suitable codes and keywords carefully. If you do not do so, the computer may fail to select you from the database. The Job Skill Codes and Keywords you choose must reflect your practical experience, not your future career objectives.

Job Skill Codes

The Job Skill Codes are listed on the pages enclosed with this form. There are also some examples. Please read them before you begin to complete this section. You must use only the Job Skills Codes listed. Do not invent further codes to meet your requirements – the computer will not recognise them. Each code is made up of three sets of letters: the first set indicates your main field of work, the next set a secondary field of work, and the third set a work specialisation. You must select all three parts to make up each code. You can select up to six Job Skill Codes to cover a range of secondary fields and specialisations, but put your codes in the order of priority.

Keywords and key phrases

As the Job Skill Codes may not cover specific areas of your work experience, this section allows you to indicate skills and experience in greater detail. You must select a series of keywords or key phrases for this section. For example, you may use them to highlight:

- · words or phrases describing your work experience;
- particular industries or sectors in which you have specialist experience or where you have applied your professional skills (for example, health, education);
- · specialist qualifications (for example, Chartered).
- particular countries in which you have had considerable working experience;
- specialist computer operating systems, languages or packages you work with (for example, UNIX, C++);
